A Word from our Pastor

Two weeks ago we had a great culmination for celebrating the hundredth anniversary of our parish. This week we celebrate Catholic Schools. St. Theresa School opened in 1958 as part of our hundred year story. In two years, we will celebrate seventy years of faith filled education. It is good as we welcome many today to tour our school, meet parents and students from many generations and recommit to supporting this important ministry of the parish to list why Catholic schools exist. The following are specific points found on many a Catholic school website:

Catholic schools exist to provide a faith-based education, integrating religious values with strong academics to form the "whole person"—intellectually, morally, and spiritually—emphasizing service, discipline, and a Christian worldview alongside traditional subjects, creating a supportive community that fosters virtues like compassion, honesty, and responsibility to help students become ethical leaders.

Core Reasons for Catholic Schools

- Faith Integration: They teach a Catholic worldview, helping students see God's presence in all subjects and daily life, deepening their relationship with Jesus through prayer, sacraments, and tradition.
- Moral & Character Development: A central focus is developing a strong moral compass, teaching virtues like kindness, honesty, and service, guiding students to make ethical choices and live out their faith.
- Academic Excellence: Catholic education aims for high academic standards, viewing faith and reason as complementary paths to truth, preparing students for higher education.
- Service & Social Justice: Students learn to love God and neighbor, actively serving others and working for justice, viewing their actions as part of a larger purpose.
- Safe & Supportive Community: They offer a nurturing, close-knit environment where students feel safe, supported, and connected to a larger faith community, often continuing values from home.

Key Benefits & Outcomes

- Holistic Growth: Education addresses the spiritual, intellectual, social, and emotional development of the child.
- Discipline & Self-Control: A clear moral vision rooted in the Gospel promotes self-discipline and responsible behavior.
- Rich Cultural Experience: Exposure to religious art, music, and traditions rooted in the Church's history.
- High Achievement: Catholic schools consistently generate high graduation rates and strong preparation for college for students.

As you tour the school today and hopefully stop in at the 'Fiesta lunch,' I know you will find evidence of the above points in our parochial school. If you are a graduate of the school, point out your picture on display with your class, if you are a parishioner, be proud of what your parish in many ways hidden supports and if you are visiting and taking a look thinking this might be the place for your child, welcome and know there are people around who can answer questions you might have.

Next weekend, we have our annual 'listening sessions.' Continuing the spirit of synodality that Pope Francis encouraged, please come and know your comments are received with respect and will be discussed by our parish staff in our upcoming planning days away early in February.
