A WORD FROM THE PASTOR:

Did you make it through the 'power outage'? Even though the PG & E website showed that the rectory and church building were affected, we did not lose power, but I know many who did even within our own parish. As I feared the predictions of being without power for a few days, I took things out of the freezer and slow cooked a pot roast in the gas oven. This ended up not being necessary, but our two priests who grew up far away got a first taste of Yankee Pot Roast. They were polite and tried a small portion. Soon the whole roast disappeared.

Traditionally, when our whole neighborhood/parish has been affected as it was dramatically at the time of the Oakland fire, the parish center can and becomes a place for people to meet, find each other, provide for basic needs and give us direction to look after one another. This time with the predictions of a worse scenario, the parish staff identified a few of our parishioners who we know live alone and may need some help in the event of an emergency. Individuals were matched up with others who could check and offer help if needed.

Even though we are not facing an emergency this coming week, we know something can happen very fast. We would like to broaden the list of who might need help or should have someone check on them. If you are aware of someone, please call the parish office and let us know. If you would like to be on the list, please call the parish office and let us know. During the month we especially focus on the gift of life and how we can nurture, protect and enhance lives, this small list and the little effort it might take to check on someone, is a very concrete way for us to follow the example of Christ.

On a broader area, the bishops have written a longer letter on respect for the whole world that God entrusts to us as stewards. Recently some very young people called on all who lead to do something about this. I give part of the bishops' letter that can be found in its entirety at USCCB.org:

Climate Change and Catholic Social Teaching

"God has endowed humanity with reason and ingenuity that distinguish us from other creatures. Ingenuity and creativity have enabled us to make remarkable advances and can help us address the problem of global climate change; however, we have not always used these endowments wisely. Past actions have produced both good works and harmful ones, as well as unforeseen or unintended consequences. Now we face two central moral questions:

1. How are we to fulfill God's call to be stewards of creation in an age when we may have the capacity to alter that creation significantly, and perhaps irrevocably?
2. How can we as a "family of nations" exercise stewardship in a way that respects and protects the integrity of God's creation and provides for the common good, as well as for economic and social progress based on justice?

Catholic social teaching provides several themes and values that can help answer these questions.

Global climate is by its very nature a part of the planetary commons. The earth's atmosphere encompasses all people, creatures, and habitats. The melting of ice sheets and glaciers, the destruction of rain forests, and the pollution of water in one place can have environmental impacts elsewhere. As Pope John Paul II has said, "We cannot interfere in one area of the ecosystem without paying due attention both to the consequences of such interference in other areas and to the well-being of future generations." Responses to global climate change should reflect our interdependence and common responsibility for the future of our planet. Individual nations must measure their own self-interest against the greater common good and contribute equitably to global solutions.

Our national debate over solutions to global climate change needs to move beyond the uses and abuses of science, sixty-second ads, and exaggerated claims. Because this issue touches so many people, as well as the planet itself, all parties need to strive for a civil and constructive debate about U.S. decisions and leadership in this area.

As people of religious faith, we bishops believe that the atmosphere that supports life on earth is a God-given gift, one we must respect and protect. It unites us as one human family. If we harm the atmosphere, we dishonor our Creator and the gift of creation. The values of our faith call us to humility, sacrifice, and a respect for life and the natural gifts God has provided. Pope John Paul II reminds us in his statement The Ecological Crisis: A Common Responsibility that "respect for life and for the dignity of the human person extends also to the rest of creation, which is called to join man in praising God." In that spirit of praise and thanksgiving to God for the wonders of creation, we Catholic bishops call for a civil dialogue and prudent and constructive action to protect God's precious gift of the earth's atmosphere with a sense of genuine solidarity and justice for all God's children."

This is a respect life issue. I urge your prayer and action which can and does make a difference.

SvDp Trick or Treat

We promise no tricks, just a table or two of delicious treats to delight your taste buds when St. Theresa's St. Vincent de Paul conference returns with its fall bake sale on October 26 and 27. Our talented bakers are busy perusing their book of spells, uh, we mean recipes, and stirring their cauldrons, oops, mixing bowls, to conjure up some simply mouthwatering goodies that will put a smile on the face of any ghoulie or ghostie you may know! As we always like to say, who knows what goodies lurk in the kitchens of our bakers??? Just come prepared for a veritable cornucopia of cakes, cookies, cupcakes, candy, and perhaps a few more Halloween sweets and treats. Surprise and delight your friends and family, while supporting a charity that does so much for so many. Thank you for your continuing and generous support--we are ever in your debt!

Remember All Souls throughout November

The month of November is traditionally reserved in the Church for remembering loved ones who have died. Throughout the month there will be a book in the sanctuary which will include any name you submit or that you write in yourself. Please feel welcome to write the names of your beloved in this book at any time during the month. You may also use one of the envelopes available at the information desk.

There will also be a table in the sanctuary where you may place framed pictures of your beloved dead. The table will be up for the month of November. Please make sure your name and phone number are on the back of the picture.

ST. THERESA SCHOOL

Thank you to Fr. Bob, Fr. Abraham and Fr. Tegha who joined the school community on Friday, Oct. 4th for the Blessing of Animals. The bond between pets and their owners are like no other and it was sure evident with all of the pets that were joining their "student owners" on the blacktop. From cats to dogs, gerbils to reptiles, and even a good amount of stuffed animals present, they were all blessed with holy water. It was so nice to see many parishioners joining us for this very important day!
